French and English Journals on the Result of the Presidential Election.

Napoleon Said to Favor Don Carlos as Queen Isabella's Successor.

Minister Johnson's Last After-Dinner Speech.

BY CORAN THOMPSON.

All the journals have commented on the Presidential election in the United States. The French and English journals have been particularly interested in the result.

The French journals have generally been favorable to the result. They have seen in the election a sign of the coming of a new era in American history.

The English journals have been more critical. They have seen in the election a sign of the coming of a new era in American history.

The result of the election has been a surprise to many. It has shown that the American people are not content with the old order of things.

The election has been a victory for the people. It has shown that the American people are not content with the old order of things.
